

Elegant Chapter In Hotel History

It was an auspicious gathering that officially opened the Cameron Auditorium at 1st and Central Streets. The event was complete with four-course banquet, flowers, elegantly gowned ladies and formally dressed men.

Hosts were members of the Young Men's Business League who's members had given $100 each to build the stone and stucco auditorium.

The year was 1899 and the banquet was on the second floor

where banquet tables would be replaced by seating for plays, recitals and at least one high school graduation exercise in the years to follow.

Prominent at the opening banquet were Jeff D. Hefley, merchant and builder who was Business League president; Jake M. Ralston, attorney and League vice president; Monte J. Moore, a Cameron attorney who was League secretary; John H. Bickett, county official and League treasurer.

Also in lead positions that night were Business League directors Dr. T. A. Pope, physician and part-owner of the Cameron Herald; W. T. Hefley, attorney; T. S. Henderson, attorney; P. O. Adams, Cameron merchant; and A. P. McCord, manager of the Cameron Oil Mill.

The stage was on the west side of the building with balcony circling the other three sides.

The auditorium flourished for about 10 years with one-night-stand circuit plays and home-town entertainment. But competition for the entertainment dollar took its toll and sometime in the 1910's F. W. Reed took over ownership of the building, converting it to a hotel.

Ben Strum, partner in a Cameron tailoring business, first operated the Auditorium Hotel, making two floors out of the auditorium for guest rooms.

Strum was credited with bringing authentic French cooking to Cameron, hiring a French chef named La Rue and installing him in a plushly decorated, red velvet upholstered dining room on the hotel's first floor.

In the 1920's S. A. Cottle bought an interest in the hotel and took over active management until the late '30's. With the push of the automobile and the loss of the traveling salesmen guests, the hotel business declined and finally the auditorium closed in 1960.

The Dusek brothers presently own the property which is scheduled to be torn down under Urban Renewal plans. Furnishings, including bentwood chairs and the original marble and wood registration counter are now prized possessions in area homes.

AUDITORIUM - once the setting for plays and recitals and later remodeled to serve as a hotel that employed Cameron's first

French chef, the now empty building is market for major remodeling or destruction under Cameron Urban Renewal planning.

Maroons, Cards, White Sox Teams Step Up To First

Little League Cardinals and Minor League White Sox joined Pony League Maroons in the first place ranks after play-off games Thursday night at Cameron's Little League Ball Park.

The Cardinals won a 15-4 victory over the Indians Monday for their first place standing and a bid for regional honors next week.

With a combination of good hitting and fielding, the Cardinals took the lead early with 4 runs by Joey Mondrik, Gary Heitman, Donny Marek and Gene Goeke in the first inning and 7 in the second scored by Mondrik, Marek, Allan Jones, Monte Thompson, James McCullin, Rudy Barbosa and Richard Raymond. The Indians, who have led the league through most of the season, came through with a run by Phillip McCall in the third, Indian pitcher Dale Mueck allowed only one hit and struck out three Cardinal batters to close the third inning.

A no score fourth inning saw Cardinal pitcher Gene Goeke counter with three strike outs. The Indians rallied in the fifth with runs by Thomas Mikulec, McCall and Allen Fuchs. But it was too late to stop the Cardinals who insured a victory with runs by Mondrik, Heitman, Marek and Goeke in the sixth.

MINOR LEAGUE
A 5-1 win for the Minor League

White Sox gave them undisputed title to the No. 1 spot for the 1970 season. It was the ninth win for the White Sox in a 13 game schedule.

The White Sox took the lead in the first inning with runs scored by Melvin Hundle and Gary Vrazel. But it was a pitching match from there with White Sox pitcher Steve Vrazel and Yankee pitcher Stephen Hollas scoring 13 strike outs each.

Lone run for the Yankees came in the third inning, scored by Hollas.

Winning runs for the White Sox were made by Bobby Brock in the third, Hundle and Greg Willy in the fifth.

$1.3 Billion Asked In State Agency Budget Requests

500 In Milam If Teen Votes

Voting of 18-year-olds in Texas would probably produce about 500 or 700 additional prospective voters in Milam County, according to Valter White, county tax assessor-collector.

White's comment came in a Herald interview asking about voter registration in Milam County, under the present Texas annual registration law.

White pointed out 9,099 Milam Countians register under the present law, either in person at the Milam Courthouse or at substations in Rockdale, Thorndale or Gause, or by mailing in forms giving information on voters.

A recent survey by the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Texas showed Texas is the only one of the 50 states registering voters under annual registration plans.

"The state pays 25 cents from state sources for each registration," White told The Herald, "and it doesn't pay for the paper."

PERMANENT REGISTRATION

White said he would prefer permanent registration which would require personnel to maintain a constant check on deaths, through state assistance, voters' moving from one precinct to another in the county, and felony convictions, if any.

Like most Texas counties and because of annual registration, Milam County has no routine check on registrations changed during the year due to death or change of location.

"This kind of information would have to come from the state," White said.

A permanent registration system would mean a permanent file on each voter, once registered, in Milam County or any other county.

White said additional help, both paid and voluntary, helps during

January registration of voters, in person or by mail, in Cameron, Gause, Thorndale and Rockdale.

Counties used to retain 25 cents of the old $1.75 poll tax to cover costs of recording poll tax receipts.

Costs of registering voters under the present system, actually quite similar to poll tax registration without purchasing a poll tax, is covered in part by state's 25 cents reimbursement for each registration.

Registration is almost double the number actually voting in Milam County, even in a presidential year. About 6,000 voted during a contested presidential election, when open registration would have produced about 10,000 registered voters.

White sees a need for a continuing check of voter registration if a permanent system is approved in Texas.

About 60 percent of officials in medium and small counties, a survey shows, would prefer continuing annual registration.

Voting records in Milam County may make the question academic. If only about two-thirds of registered voters actually vote and only then in presidential election years, it points out a majority of voters is not exercising their right in other elections.

LOW VOTE PERCENTAGE

The primary vote totals of both Democratic and Republican Parties in Milam County in May was about 4100, with 67 of these in the Republican primary.

The 1970 registration of more than 9,000 voters shows that primary voting produced less than half of eligible voters. It suggests that voters having property, mature interests in local government are the core of voting.

White suggested the prospect of perhaps 500 to 700 additional teen voters, assuming the new federal law is constitutional, would have little effect on voting outcome in Milam County, particularly in view of the present low percentage of voting before the 18-year-old became eligible.

Estimates show that registration costs about 32 cents per voter for annual registration. White had no estimate of what the cost per voter is over the 25 cents allowed at this time, because some registration is voluntary in Gause and Rockdale.

Newspapers throughout the county and the state, White noted, also contribute space for registration forms.

Kubiak Sees Long Debate For Solons

Rep. Dan Kubiak said this week that budget requests already received from state agencies call for $1,364 billion in additional spending in the next biennium and will likely bring debate in the 62nd legislature.

Kubiak said the budget, taxes to meet increased spending and school redistricting could send the legislature into special sessions next summer.

"Rep. Cory, who has worked closely with the Governor and tax committee, said last week that he believed needed revenue will come from a two-fold bill that would place a two percent tax on corporate taxes tied in with a two-cent across the board sales tax," Kubiak said. "The across the board sales tax was the bloody battle in the house last session because it includes food, farm machinery and other essentials. That along with school redistricting," he said, "will likely throw the legislature into special sessions next summer."

A member of the School Districts Committee, Kubiak said a drive is on to consolidate all school districts into a minimum 2,600 student enrollment. "In a rural controlled legislature this is going to bring strong debate," Kubiak said.

He said major requests for increased spending were for welfare, education and mental health programs.

"Welfare Dept. estimates that a recent Supreme Court decision on residency requirements for welfare plus increases in Aid to Dependent Children and over 65 applicants, will raise the welfare spending about twice what the present program costs," Rep. Kubiak said.

He said the State Welfare Dept. had requested an additional $348.7 million to cover the expected payment increases and the additional personnel needed to administer the program. "I think this can be cut considerably," Kubiak said, "but it is certain that a constitutional amendment will be needed to raise the present $80 million ceiling entirely. But I think it would be difficult to pass this."

Largest increases in spending requests have come from state education programs with higher education alone asking $400 million above last year's spending.

"Education Coordinating Board is looking ahead to 1980 when they anticipate they will need twice the college facilities presently available and they want to start making advances now," Kubiak said.

The new budget requests also reflect spending for the new four-year college at San Antonio (part

City Dump Closed Noon Weekends

City Council voted Tuesday to close city dump grounds noon each Saturday and Sunday, beginning August 1, according to Mayor E. A. Perrin.

Council had previously approved a trial period in July when dump grounds were open to public use weekend afternoons.

But officials found that people were not using the dump ground and it was unnecessary cost. Mayor Perrin recommended the closing to the Council in a Tuesday meeting.

All Star Teams Selected

All-Star teams for Minor League were announced at Little League Ball Park Monday night with a three-game series to begin this week.

Billy Hornung said Louis Vrazel, coach of the first place White Sox, would coach the All Star Nationals and Forrest Sapp, coach of the second place Yankees, would coach the All Star Americans.

American All Stars are: John Allen Moseley, Stephen Hollas, Dan Garcia, Rodrick Ruzicka, Greg Willy, Darrel Vybral, Tom Williams, Terry Tindall, David Krenek, Frank Risner, Glen Glaser and Chip Kostroun.

Toys For Tots Needed

Methodist Fellowship Hall will be the collection center for used toys to be repaired and distributed to needy children next Christmas.

An August 1 deadline has been set for toy collection.

Toys will be repaired at the Texas Youth Council facilities at Gatesville in a project involving youth and the technical-vocational equipment at the Gatesville school. Upon completion of the toy repair project, newly re-conditioned toys will be distributed or returned to charitable organizations in Central Texas to be given to needy children.

Windup of summer baseball, except for regional baseball competition among Little League and Babe Ruth teams, and all-star games, has ended.

The calibre of play improved a great deal during the short summer season, particularly for beginning Minor League teams. The White Sox won in a play-off Friday night Thursday over the Yankees.

Martin missed the game, at home with mononucleosis. But the White Sox won 5-1 in a game marked by unbelievably good pitching for 8 and 9 year-olds. Sox' Steve Vrazel struck out 14 and the Yankees' fanned 11. Sox recorded a 9-4 season and Martin, like the other boys who played the game, is elated.

Now-Now-Now
An inquiry from Mrs. Raymond Loyd of Hico, Texas, asks about an early Herald editor, Oscar F. McNally. The Cameron Herald's Centennial Edition of Nov. 24, 1960, gives some information from early files, now on microfilm.

McNally was editor at the turn of the century and owned a half-interest in the publication until Rev. James Peeler gave him the other half, making McNally sole owner until he was stabbed to death December 30, 1905.

A young employee of the paper was charged with the crime, twice tried and the second time acquitted by a petit jury.

McNally bought his first half interest in the Herald in 1887 from Dr. Thomas A. Pope, who had invested in the property along with Dr. C. W. Macune in the early 1880s.

Quoting from The Herald of Nov. 24, 1960:

"In a memorial service for the editor in the Christian Church, Mr. Homer D. Wade was among the speakers--T. S. Henderson, Rev. Sessions and Tompkins and Dr. Greer were the others--who lauded McNally as a legislator, editor and citizen. Wade, himself a newspaperman, said of him as an editor: 'The deceased was known to the press of Texas as one of its ablest workers. He was looked upon as a standard, and regarded as an authority.'"

Mrs. McNally announced intentions to continue publishing The Herald and the masthead listed her as an associate editor. But "it disappeared and on the March 1, 1906 issue was replaced by that of H. W. Stevenson as Editor and Proprietor."

We know nothing of the Buckholts Bulletin. There have been probably dozens of newspapers published in Milam County during the 111 years The Herald (the Cameron Centinel) has appeared.

This is the pattern throughout Texas and the nation and is a reason a publication of century-vintage is remarkable if only it survives that long. As in Mr. McNally's case, things do happen.

WASHINGTON, D.C. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

Aid to China

In the newspaper tonight, there appears a report of a serious earthquake in the vicinity of Tientsin, China. From my view, the U.S. should offer the Peking Government relief assistance for the disaster victims. Such a step would be justifiable on humanitarian grounds. Also, it would be a concrete example of U.S. good will which might serve as a first step to improving relations with Peking.

J.D.B.
Pikesville, Md.

Dear J.D.B.:

The specific incident you mentioned has not yet been acknowledged by the Chinese and we could not, of course, offer assistance when it has not been clearly established or admitted that the disaster occurred. Even so, recent experience suggests that any such offer would be met only with hostility and immediate rejection by the Chinese.

The U.S. Government has, in the past, taken several initiatives along the lines you suggest, only to have them rejected by the Chinese. For example, when President Kennedy in 1961, at the time of a serious shortage of food in China, indicated that we would consider a Chinese request to purchase grain, the Chinese denounced the President and ruled out the possibility of trade, not only in grain, but in any other commodity with the United States.

Likewise, in 1967 Peking summarily rejected an indication on the part of this government that it would be willing to allow the export of drugs and medical supplies used for the treatment of certain epidemic diseases. There has been no evidence since that time to indicate that Peking might have changed this attitude. The Chinese have also consistently rejected offers of assistance from the American Red Cross and the League of Red Cross Societies in connection with natural disasters.

The U.S. Government is interested in reducing tensions with Communist China, but at the present time there seems little likelihood that any offer we might make, humanitarian or otherwise, would be accepted.

We will, however, continue to explore all possibilities for improving relations with mainland China.

Latin America

If we show Latin America that we are concerned with her problems and are ready to help, we will be helping ourselves as well as them. The security of the hemisphere depends on good relations with Latin America. If these relations are not improved, then we can expect 240 million enemies south of our border, and even similar situations such as Vietnam in our own backyard. I hope our country will be able to overcome this awesome problem and that you can help formulate a policy that will be a step in that direction.

W.A.
Baltimore, Md.

Dear W.A.:

We appreciate your taking the time and interest to write down your thoughts on the complex issue of our relations with Latin America. We can assure you that this area of the world is receiving high priority attention. The Rockefeller trips, the recent Trinidad meeting of the OAS Economic and Social Council, the deliberations on the Vina del Mar document presented by our neighbors, all these things attest to the increasing exchange of views between the United States and Latin America. From these exchanges we hope to form a more sound relationship, one in which everyone will benefit.

'Trip' To Disaster . . .

The city attorney of Killeen, who is also head of a youth counseling programming in the Central Texas Council of Government, opened our eyes to the magnitude of a drug problem only 50 miles away.

He told Cameron Rotarians Wednesday that a reliable poll of high school teen-agers in Killeen High School showed 60 percent had tried or were using some kind of drug, mostly marijuana, but including "hard" drugs.

He described authorities having to take some 25 kids out of class in straight jackets from Killeen High School who were on "bad trips." This suggests they had used something stronger than "Mary Jane."

Yoe High School is introducing instruction of drug usage and control in the curriculum sometime this fall. It would be well that all groups where teen-agers and even sub-teenagers are involved recognize the problem is at hand, and in volume.

The fact that Killeen is adjacent to Fort Hood, where the heavy percentage of people is military, accounts for this extraordinary figure, the Killeen official said.

His comments underscore the presence of a modern problem in the next county, one which is most difficult to grasp, because in this man's view, people are not sure how to cope with such a problem in their own family.

Teen-agers are ready to try things; that is part of their maturing process. Though marijuana has no known lasting effects, it is a bridge to the hard stuff, which is always a possible test among kids willing to experiment with high speed motorcycles and automobiles.

Since we cannot withdraw from the problem, we must meet it. That is what Central Texas Council of Government is hoping to do through staffing of people who can work with teen-agers in limbo if not in trouble.

He had no information on such problems in the Milam area but it is likely to exist and just as likely in relatively minor proportions.

A sense of isolation among teen-agers and the willingness to "try anything once" are what makes drugs, like speeding cars, somehow attractive.

What parents and responsible groups this side of metropolitanizing Bell County can do is inform themselves on the problems of drugs, its effects and assure the teen-agers the stuff is more volatile than gasoline.

What was once a remote problem a few years ago in Coast cities is nearby. The estrangement young people feel is an excuse family and friend can deny those who seek an alternative in spare time and a potential "trip" to disaster.

CAMERON'S PARADE OF SPORTS

BOY SCOUTS TROOP 52

Over the years Cameron has been noted for producing outstanding athletes in all sports.

The Parade of Sports seeks to pay tribute to former great athletes as well as younger ones.

This week we are happy to present Boy Scout Troop 52 which won first place in the Rockdale Swim Meet, August 1968.

of the University of Texas system.
"There is a good possibility that tuition to state schools will be increased from $50 to $100," Kubiak said. Coordinating Board has recommended a $128 tuition for Texas residents with a big increase in out-of-state tuition. "I think we should go a little slow on putting a large penalty on out-of-state students," he said. "Fine schools like the Veterinary School at Texas A&M draw a large number of out-of-state students and they are a definite advantage. We want to attract good minds into our state colleges and if we impose to large a penalty we won't."

Kubiak listed other education spending increases as:
A $10 million increase for Texas State Technical Institute to expand their facilities and include more variety in their vocational program. "They will probably get most of this request," Kubiak said, "because there is a strong interest on the part of the Governor and the people to have a good vocational education program."

A $76.4 million increase for mental health and mental retardation program, Kubiak said he favored increases here.

"Present conditions in state institutions are very depressing. Many have beds that have been in use since 1900, little privacy and poor quality treatment. There is about a 5 or 6 year waiting list to get into one of these hospitals in most cases." A $13.7 million increase for the prison system, Kubiak said as a member of the Penitentiary's Committee he was familiar with some of the reforms in progress and felt that some of the extra spending was for good programs. "We have a new rehabilitation program that has proved successful and should be continued," he said.

Personal Mention

The Glaser family celebrated Joe Glaser and Mrs. Josie Willie birthdays Sunday, July 19th, at Mr. and Mrs. Joe Glaser lake house.

Those who attended were: Mrs. Fritz Glaser, the Joe Glasers, the Arnold Glasers, the Stanley Glasers and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Hause, the Arnold Jungmanns.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Glaser and Denson Fuchs from Buckholts, Mr. Johnnie Glaser from Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Willie and the Ed Eshelms from Houston, Kimberly Kay and Cris Glaser from Cameron and Syren Medema from Holland.

Thomas G. Thweatt, Jr., RMC, and his family of Norfolk, Va. is en route to Honolulu. He visited Mrs. Lorene Thweatt, his mother, during the past week.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. B. D. Clark this past week were Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Cone of Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kleiber and son E. F. Kleiber and family of Cleburne, Texas, spent several days in Corpus Christi visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis. While there they visited the National Seashore on Padre Island and other points of interest in South Texas.

Bologna takes to the grill! A novel way to satisfy hearty appetites while balancing the food budget.

While you're barbecuing serve a colorful Fruit Fizz. Combine 1 can (12 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate with 1 can (6 oz.) frozen Hawaiian punch concentrate and 3 quarts (96 oz.) The Uncola, chilled. Pour into large pitcher. Add ice cubes. Makes 15 (8 oz.) servings.

Barbecued Bologna Roll

2 lbs. unsliced (2 1/2 inch) bologna 2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 cup prepared mustard 1/2 cup The Uncola
1/4 cup minced onion 8 hamburger buns

Score bologna. Cover with water and simmer for 25 minutes or until heated through. Remove from water. Combine mustard, onion, brown sugar and The Uncola. Place bologna on grill. Baste generously, turning often until glazed and lightly browned—about 20 to 30 minutes. Cut into 1/4 inch slices. Serve on buns using three slices of bologna for each sandwich. Makes 8 sandwiches.

Shower Honors Betrothed

Miss Brenda Watkins, bride elect of Tommy Barton, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on July 11 at the First Baptist Church, Cameron.

Hostesses for the pre-nuptial event were Mrs. Willis Kuhn, Mrs. Travis Anderson, Miss Fannie Harris, Mrs. Mike Rogers, Mrs. Ed Roesler, Mrs. Jackie Morgan and Mrs. Monroe Bruedigan.

Receiving guests during the party hours were Mrs. W. A. Watkins, mother of the honoree, Mrs. Clayton Barton, mother of the bridegroom, Miss Watkins and her grandmothers, Mrs. William Watkins and Mrs. O. A. Folschinsky, and the hostesses.

The bride-elect's chosen colors, yellow and white, were used for the serving table centerpiece, cake, punch, nuts and mints were served.

Club 'Shoots' For Skeet Range

A film on skeet shooting will be shown at a 7:30 p.m. July 30 organizational meeting of a Cameron Gun Club at Citizens National Bank meeting room.

Bernay Dusek and Jim Bledsoe, both of Cameron, will present plans for organizing membership for a gun club in the Cameron area.

A charter membership of 30 is sought, Dusek said. Bledsoe and Dusek said the new club proposes to establish a skeet range near Cameron.

Area sportsmen are invited to attend the meeting Thursday, July 30, Dusek said.

Discussion of membership and financing will follow the film.

WENDY ZOTZ IN NTSU CHILDREN'S THEATRE CAST

Wendy Zotz of Cameron will appear in the forthcoming North Texas State University Children's Theater productions at the Denton campus, August 8-12.

A western musical, a modern fantasy and a classic fairy tale are included in the schedule. The productions mark the first attempt at repertory at NTSU. Previous summer Children's Theater presentations offered only one drama for young audiences. Most of the 34 cast members will appear in two sections.

Two of the three plays will be presented each day throughout the schedule. "Pecos Bill and the Indians" and "Little Blue Horse" will alternate in matinee and evening time slots in NTSU's 500-seat University Theater. "Sleeping Beauty" will be presented as a matinee and evening performances in the smaller 200-seat Studio Theater.

CLUB MEETS AT BPW CLUBHOUSE

The Business and Professional Womens Club of Cameron met Monday night at their clubhouse at 4th and Milam.

Following a business meeting the ten members were served a melon plate.

Used Toys Needed For Youth Work

A project has recently been initiated in Central Texas to benefit the needy children in the region. This project is a unique venture involving the youth in the Texas Youth Council facilities at Gatesville. Available technical-vocational equipment at the schools and available manpower will be used to repair and restore toys obtained from donations by local persons in the region.

Upon completion of the toy repair project, newly re-conditioned toys will be distributed or returned to charitable organizations in Central Texas to be given to needy persons.

The Texas Youth Council (TYC) facilities at Gatesville have been designated as repair agencies of used toys for needy children throughout Central Texas. To provide this worthwhile service for surrounding communities in collection and repair of the toys, it is necessary that the Texas Youth Council facilities have these toys in their possession prior to August 1, in order to repair and distribute to charitable organizations throughout Central Texas prior to Christmas, 1970.

Used toys (regardless of condition) from the Milam County Area will be collected for the project at Rogers City Hall, Thorndale City Hall and by the Rockdale Noon Lions Club.

Food Ads Are Aid To Shopper

Food advertisements can be a big help to the grocery shopper. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, notes,

"Food advertisements tell what foods are available and where, often include price, and although not often enough, they include a description of the food grade, size or other quality indications," Mrs. Clyatt said.

"Quality is usually high on advertised items as the store would not profit by calling attention to items in poor condition," she added.

The purpose of the advertisement is to get the customer into the store, but the store also wants and needs repeat business, she said.

"Before buying groceries, check the food advertisements for high quality food at low prices," Mrs. Clyatt said.

"Fryer chickens continue to take the spotlight as the bargain in most meat departments," she said. "Plentiful supplies of eggs are also on the market at prices everyone can afford."

There is little change in beef and pork prices, Mrs. Clyatt added. Best beef buys include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, short ribs and round steaks and roasts, according to Mrs. Clyatt.

"Best pork values will be found on hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end cut loin roasts and chops and all kinds of lunch meat," she said.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices include bananas, oranges, cantaloupes, watermelons, peaches, plums, corn, carrots, squash, and dry yellow onions. Others included are potatoes, head lettuce, cabbage, okra, cucumbers, radishes, green onions and tomatoes.

EYE-CATCHING—A bright floral-printed cotton upholstery fabric provides the color scheme and decorative impact for this contemporary living room. Custom-matching the window shade to the steel-based armchairs is a breeze with Stauffer's Tontine shade cloth. The fabric is ironed on to the adhesive shade cloth for a quick and permanent bonding. A draped swag finishes off the window treatment.

Obituaries

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Dr. Bertram S. Brown, Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Case History

Mental illness is beginning to be the subject of better and wider coverage in health insurance benefits' programs. Labor unions and industries are developing programs, for example, and mental health services are springing into action to help not only individuals but also whole families.

The following case history of Mrs. R. and her family illustrates the point. Mrs. R., a slight woman in her mid-40's, was having trouble that day on the factory assembly line. For several hours, her co-workers tried to make up for her. She seemed to have trouble moving her arm, and her face winced in pain. At the lunch signal, Mrs. R. went to the shop steward and told him she was leaving for the day. He began walking with her to the locker room and asked if he could help since she appeared so distressed. In the locker room, she broke down. She told of her family's troubles, her own, her husband's, and those of their teenage son and younger daughter. The shop steward suggested that she make use of her mental health benefits and get help for her problems. Only a few months before, he had gotten help for a problem with his son and the entire family's relationships had improved.

BLONDE BEAUTY Jo Ann Jensen receives pink carnation bouquet from Farm Bureau President Robert Jungmann after her selection as first runner-up in the Milam County Farm Bureau Queen Contest at Methodist Fellowship Hall, Miss Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jensen, Cameron, also received a $25 cash award.

Root Knot Nematode Hits Peach Orchards

COLLEGE STATION
A very small worm-like parasite, commonly known as root knot nematode, is playing havoc with peach trees in some Texas orchards.

Symptoms of the parasite invasion include stunted trees and yellowing of the foliage and a close examination of the roots reveals the presence of small diameter galls, Jerral D. Johnson, Extension plant pathologist, said.

"There are two methods of controlling the nematode problem in peach trees," Johnson said. "The first is the use of resistant rootstocks, Okinawa or Nemaguard, Homeowners who are planning to plant trees this fall should contact their nurseryman to assure that the varieties they want will be available on either of these two rootstocks."

The next method of controlling nematodes is the use of soil fumigation, Johnson said. This is required on trees that are already planted and on which nematodes are later found he explained.

Brazos Sold, With Mud

The prestigious department store B. Altman's in New York has an unusual item for sale at its dignified counters -- Brazos River water, complete with mud.

According to the "Medallion", newsletter of the Texas Historical Survey Committee, it was dreamed up as a promotional gimmick for the Brazos River festival in April.

Each of the small apothecary jars of water bears a label with a sketch of the Waco Suspension Bridge and the enigmatic motto, "Once you drink water from the Brazos, you will always return." Wacoite Mrs. Mary Alice O'Dowd drew the picture and boiled the water herself, but just to be sure that no one drinks it -- and for authenticity -- she added a heaping tablespoonful of red mud to each container.

Richardson To Play In Astrodome

Tickets to the August 6 Texas High School Coaches' Association's all-star football game are now on sale, Astrodome Ticket Manager Dick McDowell has announced.

Ronnie Richardson, 1969, YHS standout lineman, will play.

The annual all-star game, matching the outstanding graduating senior football players from throughout the state of Texas, will be played in the Astrodome Thursday night, August 6.

Tickets are priced at $4 each. McDowell said that the tickets are available at the Astrodome's standard ticket outlets -- the advance ticket windows on Kirby Drive, all Foley's stores in Houston, the lobby of Houston Bank and Trust and at the Rice and Sheraton-Lincoln Hotels.

They also may be ordered by mail from Box 1691, Houston, Texas 77001. A 25-cent handling charge should be added to all mail orders.

Game is sponsored by Houston Rotary Club. Tickets are also available through L. W. Stroup, Cameron Rotarian.

Moto-Cross Race Sunday

Approximately 50 to 70 motorcycle races will converge on Austin, Sunday, July 26 for the second running of the Austin Aqua Festival Moto-Cross Races, the start of many "warm up" events to kick-off the 1970 Austin Aqua Festival, August 7-16.

Commencing at 1 p.m., a "shotgun" start usually sees some riders take a spill on the first sandy turn of the course, layed out in an abandoned gravel pit paralleling the Colorado River at the junction of the Montopolis Bridge and Ed Bluestine Blvd.

Heading the list of contestants is Robi Holbert of Houston who is a leading point racer who always places high in every race that he enters. Originally from Victoria, Holbert drives a CZ brand Czechoslovakian 360 cc bike.

Another point leader in the State, Wyman Friday of Fort Worth, will race in the 500 cc class on his Yamaha bike.

Local entries are led by Jack O'Leary, always a top contestant in the tough races, riding his 250 cc Yamaha. Other early Austin notables in the Moto-Cross racing category are Gary Bigley riding a 125 cc Yamaha and Kenneth Wilson, a top contender in every off-road motorcycle race as well as a top contender in statewide drag boat racing.

Races will be in five classes, 125 cc junior and senior; 250 cc junior and senior; and 500 cc seniors only. The three senior class races will pit only top ranked riders, each competing for motorcycle racing points which always determine the season champions.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1.50 children 6-12 with those under 6 admitted free.

Elegant Chapter In Hotel History

It was an auspicious gathering that officially opened the Cameron Auditorium at 1st and Central Streets. The event was complete with four-course banquet, flowers, elegantly gowned ladies and formally dressed men.

Hosts were members of the Young Men's Business League who's members had given $100 each to build the stone and stucco auditorium.

The year was 1899 and the banquet was on the second floor

where banquet tables would be replaced by seating for plays, recitals and at least one high school graduation exercise in the years to follow.

Prominent at the opening banquet were Jeff D. Hefley, merchant and builder who was Business League president; Jake M. Ralston, attorney and League vice president; Monta J. Moore, a Cameron attorney who was League secretary; John H. Bickett, county official and League treasurer.

Also in lead positions that night were Business League directors Dr. T. A. Pope, physician and part-owner of The Cameron Herald; W. T. Hefley, attorney; T. S. Henderson, attorney; P. O. Adams, Cameron merchant, and A. P. McCord, manager of the Cameron Oil Mill.

The stage was on the west side of the building with balcony circling the other three sides.

The auditorium flourished for about 10 years with one-night-stand circuit plays and home-town entertainment. But competition for the entertainment dollar took its toll and sometime in the 1910's F. W. Reed took over ownership of the building, converting it to a hotel.

Ben Strum, partner in a Cameron tailoring business, first operated the Auditorium Hotel, making two floors out of the auditorium for guest rooms.

Strum was credited with bringing authentic French cooking to Cameron, hiring a French chef named La Rue and installing him in a plushly decorated, red velvet upholstered dining room on the hotel's first floor.

In the 1920's S. A. Cottle bought an interest in the hotel and took over active management until the late '30's. With the push of the automobile and the loss of the traveling salesman guests, the hotel business declined and finally the auditorium closed in 1960.

The Dusek brothers presently own the property which is scheduled to be torn down under Urban Renewal plans. Furnishings, including bentwood chairs and the original marble and wood registration counter are now prized possessions in area homes.

Now With F.M.L.

Cameron's Folk Fete will be receiving continuous promotion through the efforts of dance groups continuing to appear during the year between Fetes.

Planners already anticipate an approximate June 10, 1971 date for the next extravaganza of talent. It will be an expanded and even better organized offering than the first, which met with considerable success.

It is a fine thing for these dance groups to continue guest appearances at various functions around Central Texas and the state.

They continue to remind people that Cameron is a friendly city, looking to a future of growth and development among people, industry, agri-business and institutions.

NOW-NOW-NOW

Windup of summer baseball, except for regional baseball competition among Little League and Babe Ruth teams, and all-star games, has ended.

The calibre of play improved a great deal during the short summer season, particularly for beginning Minor League teams.

The White Sox won in a play-off Friday night Thursday over the Yankees.

Martin missed the game, at home with mononucleosis. But the White Sox won 5-1 in a game marked by unbelievably good pitching for 8 and 9 year-olds. Sox' Steve Vrazel struck out 14 and the Yankees' fanned 11. Sox recorded a 9-4 season and Martin, like the other boys who played the game, is elated.

NOW-NOW-NOW

An inquiry from Mrs. Raymond Loyd of Hico, Texas, asks about an early Herald editor, Oscar F. McAnally. The Cameron Herald's Centennial Edition of Nov. 24, 1960, gives some information from early files, now on microfilm.

McAnally was editor at the turn of the century and owned a half-interest in the publication until Rev. James Peeler gave him the other half, making McAnally sole owner until he was stabbed to death December 30, 1905.

A young employee of the paper was charged with the crime, twice tried and the second time acquitted by a petit jury.

McAnally bought his first half interest in the Herald in 1887 from Dr. Thomas A. Pope, who had invested in the property along with Dr. C. W. Macune in the early 1880's.

Quoting from The Herald of Nov. 24, 1960:

"In a memorial service for the editor in the Christian Church, Mr. Homer D. Wade was among the speakers--T. S. Henderson, Rev. Sessions and Tompkins and Dr. Greer were the others--who lauded McAnally as a legislator, editor and citizen. Wade, himself a newspaperman, said of him as an editor: 'The deceased was known to the press of Texas as one of its ablest workers. He was looked upon as a standard, and regarded as an authority.'"

Mrs. McAnally announced intentions to continue publishing The Herald and the masthead listed her as an associate editor. But "it disappeared and on the March 1, 1906 issue was replaced by that of H. W. Stevenson as Editor and Proprietor."

We know nothing of the Bock-holts Bulletin. There have been probably dozens of newspapers published in Milam County during the 111 years The Herald (the Cameron Centinel) has appeared.

This is the pattern throughout Texas and the nation and is a reason a publication of century-vintage is remarkable if only it survives that long. As in Mr. McAnally's case, things do happen.

All Star Teams Selected

All-Star teams for Minor League Ball Park Monday night with a three-game series to begin this week.

Billy Horning said Louis Vrazel, coach of the first place White Sox, would coach the All Star Nationals and Forrest Sapp, coach of the second place Yankees, would coach the All Star Americans.

American All Stars are: John Allen Moseley, Stephen Hollan, Dan Garcia, Rodrick Ruzick, Greg Willy, Darrel Vybral, Tom Williams, Terry Tindall, David Krenke, Frank Risner, Glen Glaser and Chip Kostroun.

Toys For Tots Needed

Methodist Fellowship Hall will be the collection center for used toys to be repaired and distributed to needy children next Christmas.

An August 1 deadline has been set for toy collection.

Toys will be repaired at the Texas Youth Council facilities at Gatesville in a project involving youth and the technical-vocational equipment at the Gatesville school. Upon completion of the toy repair project, newly re-conditioned toys will be distributed or returned to charitable organizations in Central Texas to be given to needy children.

AUDITORIUM - once the setting for plays and recitals and later remodeled to serve as a hotel that employed Cameron's first

French chef, the now empty building is market for major remodeling or destruction under Cameron Urban Renewal planning.

Maroons, Cards, White Sox Teams Step Up To First

Little League Cardinals and Minor League White Sox joined Pony League Maroons in the first place ranks after play-off games Thursday night at Cameron's Little League Ball Park.

The Cardinals won a 15-4 victory over the Indians Monday for their first place standing and a bid for regional honors next week.

With a combination of good hitting and fielding, the Cardinals took the lead early with 4 runs by Joey Mondrik, Gary Heitman, Donny Marek and Gene Goeke in the first inning and 7 in the second scored by Mondrik, Marek, Allan Jones, Monte Thompson, James McCullin, Rudy Barbosa and Richard Raymond. The Indians, who have lead the league through most of the season, came through with a run by Phillip McCall in the third, Indian pitcher Dale Mueck allowed only one hit and struck out three Cardinal batters to close the third inning.

A no score fourth inning saw Cardinal pitcher Gene Goeke counter with three strike outs.

The Indians rallied in the fifth with runs by Thomas Mikulec, McCall and Allen Fuchs. But it was too late to stop the Cardinals who insured a victory with runs by Mondrik, Heitman, Marek and Goeke in the sixth.

MINOR LEAGUE
A 5-1 win for the Minor League

White Sox gave them undisputed title to the No. 1 spot for the 1970 season. It was the ninth win for the White Sox in a 13 game schedule.

The White Sox took the lead in the first inning with runs scored by Melvin Hundle and Gary Vrazel. But it was a pitching match from there with White Sox pitcher Steve Vrazel and Yankee pitcher Stephen Hollas scoring 13 strike outs each.

Lone run for the Yankees came in the third inning, scored by Hollas.

Winning runs for the White Sox were made by Bobby Brock in the third, Hundle and Greg Willy in the fifth.

$1.3 Billion Asked In State Agency Budget Requests

500 In Milam If Teen Votes

Voting of 18-year-olds in Texas would probably produce about 500 or 700 additional prospective voters in Milam County, according to Valtor White, county tax assessor-collector.

White's comment came in a Herald interview asking about voter registration in Milam County, under the present Texas annual registration law.

White pointed out 9,099 Milam Countians register under the present law, either in person at the Milam Courthouse or at substations in Rockdale, Thorndale or Gause, or by mailing informs giving information on voters.

A recent survey by the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Texas showed Texas is the only one of the 50 states registering voters under annual registration plan.

"The state pays 25 cents from state sources for each registration," White told The Herald, "and it doesn't pay for the paper."

PERMANENT REGISTRATION

White said he would prefer permanent registration which would require personnel to maintain a constant check on deaths, through state assistance, voters' moving from one precinct to another in the county, and felony convictions, if any.

Like most Texas counties and because of annual registration, Milam County has no routine check on registrations changed during the year due to death or change of location.

"This kind of information would have to come from the state," White said.

A permanent registration system would mean a permanent file on each voter, once registered, in Milam County or any other county.

White said additional help, both paid and voluntary, helps during

January registration of voters, in person or by mail, in Cameron, Gause, Thorndale and Rockdale.

Counties used to retain 25 cents of the old $1.75 poll tax to cover costs of recording poll tax receipts.

Costs of registering voters under the present system, actually quite similar to poll tax registration without purchasing a poll tax, is covered in part by state's 25 cents reimbursement for each registration.

Registration is almost double the number actually voting in Milam County, even in a presidential year. About 6,000 voted during a contested presidential election, when open registration would have produced about 10,000 registered voters.

White sees a need for a continuing check of voter registration if a permanent system is approved in Texas.

About 60 percent of officials in medium and small counties, a survey shows, would prefer continuing annual registration.

Voting records in Milam County may make the question academic. If only about two-thirds of registered voters actually vote and only then in presidential election years, it points out a majority of voters is not exercising their right in other elections.

LOW VOTE PERCENTAGE

The primary vote totals of both Democratic and Republican Parties in Milam County in May was about 4100, with 67 of these in the Republican primary.

He said the State Welfare Dept. had requested an additional $348.7 million to cover the expected payment increases and the additional personnel needed to administer the program. "I think this can be cut considerably," Kubiak said, "but it is certain that a constitutional amendment will be needed to raise the present $80 million ceiling entirely. But I think it would be difficult to pass this."

Largest increases in spending requests have come from state education programs with higher education alone asking $400 million above last year's spending.

"Education Coordinating Board is looking ahead to 1980 when they anticipate they will need twice the college facilities presently available and they want to start making advances now," Kubiak said.

The new budget requests also reflect spending for the new four-year college at San Antonio (part

Kubiak Sees Long Debate For Solons

Rep. Dan Kubiak said this week that budget requests already received from state agencies call for $1,364 billion in additional spending in the next biennium and will likely bring debate in the 62nd legislature.

Kubiak said the budget, taxes to meet increased spending and school redistricting could send the legislature into special sessions next summer.

"Rep. Cory, who has worked closely with the Governor and tax committee, said last week that he believed needed revenue will come from a two-fold bill that would place a two percent tax on corporate taxes tied in with a two-cent across the board sales tax," Kubiak said. "The across the board sales tax was the bloody battle in the house last session because it includes food, farm machinery and other essentials. That along with school redistricting," he said, "will likely throw the Legislature into special sessions next summer."

A member of the School Districts Committee, Kubiak said a drive is on to consolidate all school districts into a minimum 2,600 student enrollment. "In a rural controlled legislature this is going to bring strong debate," Kubiak said.

He said major requests for increased spending were for welfare, education and mental health programs.

"Welfare Dept. estimates that a recent Supreme Court decision on residency requirements for welfare plus increases in Aid to Dependent Children and over 65 applicants, will raise the welfare spending about twice what the present program costs," Rep. Kubiak said.

He said the State Welfare Dept. had requested an additional $348.7 million to cover the expected payment increases and the additional personnel needed to administer the program. "I think this can be cut considerably," Kubiak said, "but it is certain that a constitutional amendment will be needed to raise the present $80 million ceiling entirely. But I think it would be difficult to pass this."

City Dump Closed Noon Weekends

City Council voted Tuesday to close city dump grounds noon each Saturday and Sunday, beginning August 1, according to Mayor E. A. Perrin.

Council had previously approved a trial period in July when dump grounds were open to public use weekend afternoons.

But officials found that people were not using the dump ground and it was unnecessary cost.

Mayor Perrin recommended the closing to the Council in a Tuesday meeting.

White suggested the prospect of perhaps 500 to 700 additional teen voters, assuming the new federal law is constitutional, would have little effect on voting outcome in Milam County, particularly in view of the present low percentage of voting before the 18-year-old became eligible.

Estimates show that registration costs about 32 cents per voter for annual registration. White had no estimate of what the cost per voter is over the 25 cents allowed at this time, because some registration is voluntary in Gause and Rockdale.

Newspapers throughout the county and the state, White noted, also contribute space for registration forms.

'Trip' To Disaster . . .

The city attorney of Killeen, who is also head of a youth counseling program in the Central Texas Council of Government, opened our eyes to the magnitude of a drug problem only 50 miles away.

He told Cameron Rotarians Wednesday that a reliable poll of high school teen-agers in Killeen High School showed 60 percent had tried or were using some kind of drug, mostly marijuana, but including "hard" drugs.

He described authorities having to take some 25 kids out of class in straight jackets from Killeen High School who were on "bad trips." This suggests they had used something stronger than "Mary Jane."

Yoe High School is introducing instruction of drug usage and control in the curriculum sometime this fall. It would be well that all groups where teen-agers and even sub-teenagers are involved recognize the problem is at hand, and in volume.

The fact that Killeen is adjacent to Fort Hood, where the heavy percentage of people is military, accounts for this extraordinary figure, the Killeen official said.

His comments underscore the presence of a modern problem in the next county, one which is most difficult to grasp, because in this man's view, people are not sure how to cope with such a problem in their own family.

Teen-agers are ready to try things; that is part of their maturing process. Though marijuana has no known lasting effects, it is a bridge to the hard stuff, which is always a possible test among kids willing to experiment with high speed motorcycles and automobiles.

Since we cannot withdraw from the problem, we must meet it. That is what Central Texas Council of Government is hoping to do through staffing of people who can work with teen-agers in limbo if not in trouble.

He had no information on such problems in the Milam area but it is likely to exist and just as likely in relatively minor proportions.

A sense of isolation among teen-agers and the willingness to "try anything once" are what makes drugs, like speeding cars, somehow attractive.

What parents and responsible groups this side of metropolitanizing Bell County can do is inform themselves on the problems of drugs, its effects and assure the teen-agers the stuff is more volatile than gasoline.

What was once a remote problem a few years ago in Coast cities is nearby. The estrangement young people feel is an excuse family and friend can deny those who seek an alternative in spare time and a potential "trip" to disaster.

of the University of Texas system.

"There is a good possibility that tuition to state schools will be increased from $50 to $100," Kubiak said. Coordinating Board has recommended a $128 tuition for Texas residents with a big increase in out-of-state tuition. "I think we should go a little slow on putting a large penalty on out-of-state students," he said. "Fine schools like the Veterinary School at Texas A&M draw a large number of out-of-state students and they are a definite advantage. We want to attract good minds into our state colleges and if we impose a large a penalty we won't."

Kubiak listed other education spending increases as:
A $10 million increase for Texas State Technical Institute to expand their facilities and include more variety in their vocational program. "They will probably get most of this request," Kubiak said, "because there is a strong interest on the part of the Governor and the people to have a good vocational education program."

A $76.4 million increase for mental health and mental retardation program, Kubiak said he favored increases here. "Present conditions in state institutions are very depressing. Many have beds that have been in use since 1900, little privacy and poor - quality treatment. There is about a 5 or 6 year waiting list to get into one of these hospitals in most cases."

A $13.7 million increase for the prison system, Kubiak said as a member of the Penitentiary's Committee he was familiar with some of the reforms in progress and felt that some of the extra spending was for good programs. "We have a new rehabilitation program that has proved successful and should be continued," he said.

The Diplomatic Pouch

WASHINGTON, D.C. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

Aid to China

In the newspaper tonight, there appears a report of a serious earthquake in the vicinity of Tientsin, China. From my view, the U.S. should offer the Peking Government relief assistance for the disaster victims. Such a step would be justifiable on humanitarian grounds. Also, it would be a concrete example of U.S. good will which might serve as a first step to improving relations with Peking.

J.D.B.
Pikesville, Md.

Dear J.D.B.:

The specific incident you mentioned has not yet been acknowledged by the Chinese and we could not, of course, offer assistance when it has not been clearly established or admitted that the disaster occurred. Even so, recent experience suggests that any such offer would be met only with hostility and immediate rejection by the Chinese.

The U.S. Government has, in the past, taken several initiatives along the lines you suggest, only to have them rejected by the Chinese. For example, when President Kennedy in 1961, at the time of a serious shortage of food in China, indicated that we would consider a Chinese request to purchase grain, the Chinese denounced the President and ruled out the possibility of trade, not only in grain, but in any other commodity with the United States.

Likewise, in 1967 Peking summarily rejected an indication on the part of this government that it would be willing to allow the export of drugs and medical supplies used for the treatment of certain epidemic diseases. There has been no evidence since that time to indicate that Peking might have changed this attitude. The Chinese have also consistently rejected offers of assistance from the American Red Cross and the League of Red Cross Societies in connection with natural disasters.

The U.S. Government is interested in reducing tensions with Communist China, but at the present there seems little likelihood that any offer we might make, humanitarian or otherwise, would be accepted. We will, however, continue to explore all possibilities for improving relations with mainland China.

Latin America

If we show Latin America that we are concerned with her problems and are ready to help, we will be helping ourselves as well as them. The security of the hemisphere depends on good relations with Latin America. If these relations are not improved, then we can expect 240 million enemies south of our border, and even similar situations such as Vietnam in our own backyard. I hope our country will be able to overcome this awesome problem and that you can help formulate a policy that will be a step in that direction.

W.A.
Baltimore, Md.

Dear W.A.:

We appreciate your taking the time and interest to write down your thoughts on the complex issue of our relations with Latin America. We can assure you that this area of the world is receiving high priority attention. The Rockefeller trips, the recent Trinidad meeting of the OAS Economic and Social Council, the deliberations on the Vina del Mar document presented by our neighbors, all these things attest to the increasing exchange of views between the United States and Latin America. From these exchanges we hope to form a more sound relationship, one in which everyone will benefit.

CAMERON'S PARADE OF SPORTS

BOY SCOUTS TROOP 52

Over the years Cameron has been noted for producing outstanding athletes in all sports.

The Parade of Sports seeks to pay tribute to former great athletes as well as younger ones.

This week we are happy to present Boy Scout Troop 52 which won first place in the Rockdale Swim Meet, August 1968.

A great athlete must have a strong, competitive spirit and this is the age group where such spirit starts to build. Perhaps from this group, might come a state or national champion in some swimming event. (Photo courtesy scoutmaster Felix Matula)

Personal Mention

The Glaser family celebrated Joe Glaser and Mrs. Josie Willie birthdays Sunday, July 19th, at Mr. and Mrs. Joe Glaser lake house.

Those who attended were: Mrs. Fritz Glaser, the Joe Glaser, the Arnold Glaser, the Stanley Glaser and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Hause, the Arnold Jungmanns.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Glaser and Denson Fuchs from Buckholts, Mr. Johnnie Glaser from Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Willie and the Ed Eshelmanns from Houston, Kimberly Kay and Cris Glaser from Cameron and Syren Miedema from Holland.

Thomas G. Thweatt, Jr., RMC, and his family of Norfolk, Va. is en route to Honolulu. He visited Mrs. Loreine Thweatt, his mother, during the past week.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. B. D. Clark this past week were Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Cone of Houston.

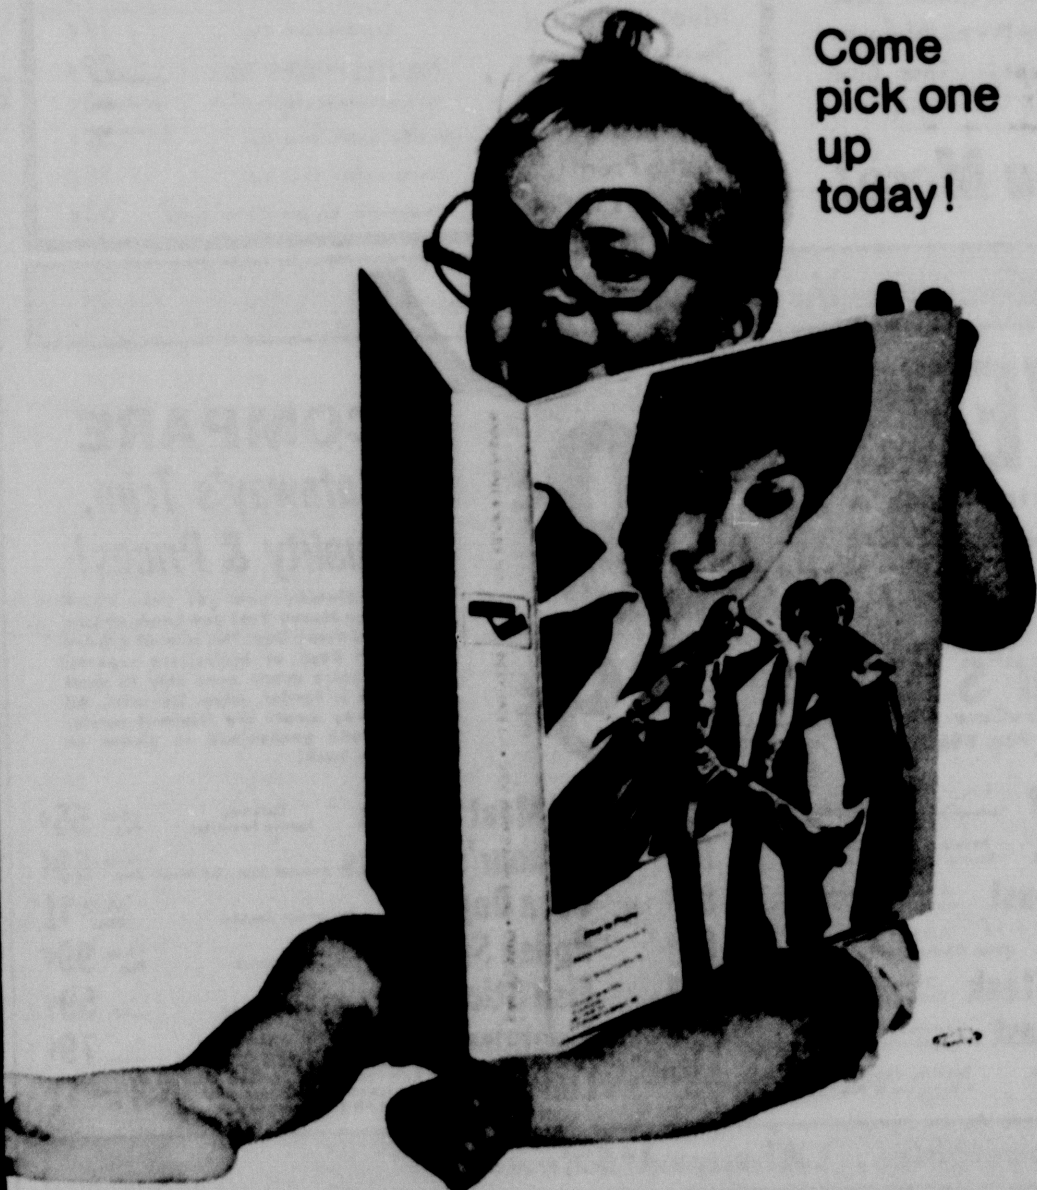

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kleiber and son E. F. Kleiber and family of Cleburne, Texas, spent several days in Corpus Christi visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis. While there they visited the National Seashore on Padre Island and other points of interest in South Texas.

QUEEN LINDA - Carol Lucko, 1968 Milam Farm Bureau Queen, places crown on her successor, Linda Synatske, of Buckholts. The crowning was climax of the local Farm Bureau's annual Queens Contest and Talent Show held this year at Methodist Fellowship Hall. Miss Synatske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Synatske, is a graduate of Rogers High School and will attend Sam Houston State in the fall. She received a $50 award and bouquet of red carnations, presented by Farm Bureau President Robert Jungmann.

*Everything for Everybody.

Bologna takes to the grill! A novel way to satisfy hearty appetites while balancing the food budget. While you're barbecuing serve a colorful Fruit Fizz. Combine 1 can (12 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate with 1 can (6 oz.) frozen Hawaiian punch concentrate and 3 quarts (96 oz.) The Uncola, chilled. Pour into large pitcher. Add ice cubes. Makes 15 (8 oz.) servings.

Barbecued Bologna Roll
2 lbs. unsliced (2 1/2 inch) bologna
1/2 cup prepared mustard
1/4 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 cup The Uncola
8 hamburger buns

Score bologna. Cover with water and simmer for 25 minutes or until heated through. Remove from water. Combine mustard, onion, brown sugar and The Uncola. Place bologna on grill. Baste generously, turning often until glazed and lightly browned—about 20 to 30 minutes. Cut into 1/4 inch slices. Serve on buns using three slices of bologna for each sandwich. Makes 8 sandwiches.

Shower Honors Betrothed

Miss Brenda Watkins, bride elect of Tommy Barton, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on July 11 at the First Baptist Church, Cameron.

Hostesses for the pre-nuptial event were Mrs. Willis Kuhn, Mrs. Travis Anderson, Miss Fannie Harris, Mrs. Mike Rogers, Ed Roessler, Mrs. Jackie Morgan and Mrs. Monroe Bruedigan.

Receiving guests during the party hours were Mrs. W. A. Watkins, mother of the honoree, Mrs. Claudia Barton, mother of the bridegroom, Miss Watkins and her grandmothers, Mrs. William Watkins and Mrs. O. A. Folschinsky, and the hostesses.

The bride-elect's chosen colors, yellow and white, were used for the serving table centerpiece. Cake, punch, nuts and mints were served.

Club 'Shoots' For Skeet Range

A film on skeet shooting will be shown at a 7:30 p.m. July 30 organizational meeting of a Cameron Gun Club at Citizens National Bank meeting room.

Bernay Dusek and Jim Bledsoe, both of Cameron, will present plans for organizing membership for a gun club in the Cameron area.

A charter membership of 30 is sought, Dusek said. Bledsoe and Dusek said the new club proposes to establish a skeet range near Cameron. Area sportsmen are invited to attend the meeting Thursday, July 30, Dusek said.

Discussion of membership and financing will follow the film.

WENDY ZOTZ IN NTSU CHILDRENS THEATRE CAST

Wendy Zotz of Cameron will appear in the forthcoming North Texas State University Children's Theater productions at the Denton campus, August 8-12.

A western musical, a modern fantasy and a classic fairy tale are included in the schedule. The productions mark the first attempt at repertory at NTSU. Previous summer Children's Theater presentations offered only one drama for young audiences. Most of the 34 cast members will appear in two sections.

Two of the three plays will be presented each day throughout the schedule. "Pecos Bill and the Indians" and "Little Blue Horse" will alternate in matinee and evening time slots in NTSU's 500-seat University Theater. "Sleeping Beauty" will be presented as a matinee and evening performance in the smaller 200-seat Studio Theater.

CLUB MEETS AT BPW CLUBHOUSE

The Business and Professional Womens Club of Cameron met Monday night at their clubhouse at 4th and Milam.

Following a business meeting the ten members were served a melon plate.

Used Toys Needed For Youth Work

A project has recently been initiated in Central Texas to benefit the needy children in the region. This project is a unique venture involving the youth in the Texas Youth Council facilities at Gatesville. Available technical-vocational equipment at the schools and available manpower will be used to repair and restore toys obtained from donations by local persons in the region.

Upon completion of the toy repair project, newly re-conditioned toys will be distributed or returned to charitable organizations in Central Texas to be given to needy persons.

The Texas Youth Council (TYC) facilities at Gatesville have been designated as repair agencies of used toys for needy children throughout Central Texas. To provide this worthwhile service for surrounding communities in collection and repair of the toys, it is necessary that the Texas Youth Council facilities have these toys in their possession prior to August 1, in order to repair and distribute to charitable organizations throughout Central Texas prior to Christmas, 1970.

Used toys (regardless of condition) from the Milam County Area will be collected for the project at Rogers City Hall, Thorndale City Hall and by the Rockdale Noon Lions Club.

Food Ads Are Aid To Shopper

Food advertisements can be a big help to the grocery shopper, Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, notes.

"Food advertisements tell what foods are available and where, often include price, and although not often enough, they include a description of the food grade, size or other quality indications," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Quality is usually high on advertised items as the store would not profit by calling attention to items in poor condition," she added.

The purpose of the advertisement is to get the customer into the store, but the store also wants and needs repeat business, she said.

"Before buying groceries, check the food advertisements for high quality food at low prices," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Fryer chickens continue to take the spotlight as the bargain in most meat departments," she said. "Plentiful supplies of eggs are also on the market at prices everyone can afford."

There is little change in beef and pork prices, Mrs. Clyatt added. Best beef buys include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, short ribs and round steaks and roasts, according to Mrs. Clyatt.

"Best pork values will be found on hams, picnic, shoulder roasts and steaks, end cut loin roasts and chops and all kinds of lunch meat," she said. Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices include bananas, oranges, cantaloupes, watermelons, peaches, plums, corn, carrots, squash, and dry yellow onions. Others included are potatoes, head lettuce, cabbage, okra, cucumbers, radishes, green onions and tomatoes.

EYE-CATCHING—A bright floral-printed cotton upholstery fabric provides the color scheme and decorative impact for this contemporary living room. Custom-matching the window shade to the steel-based armchairs is a breeze with Stauffer's Tontine shade cloth. The fabric is ironed on to the adhesive shade cloth for a quick and permanent bonding. A draped swag finishes off the window treatment.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Dr. Bertram S. Brown, Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Case History

Mental illness is beginning to be the subject of better and wider coverage in health insurance benefits programs. Labor unions and industries are developing programs, for example, and mental health services are springing into action to help not only individuals but also whole families.

The following case history of Mrs. R. and her family illustrates the point.

Mrs. R., a slight woman in her mid-40's, was having trouble that day on the factory assembly line. For several hours, her co-workers tried to make up for her. She seemed to have trouble moving her arm, and her face winced in pain.

At the lunch signal, Mrs. R. went to the shop steward and told him she was leaving for the day. He began walking with her to the locker room and asked if he could help since she appeared so distressed.

In the locker room, she broke down. She told of her family's troubles, her own, her husband's, and those of their teenage son and younger daughter. The shop steward suggested that she make use of her mental health benefits and get help for her problems. Only a few months before, he had gotten help for a problem with his son and the entire family's relationships had improved.

BLONDE BEAUTY Jo Ann Jensen receives pink carnation bouquet from Farm Bureau President Robert Jungmann after her selection as first runner-up in the Milam County Farm Bureau Queen Contest at Methodist Fellowship Hall, Miss Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jensen, Cameron, also received a $25 cash award.

Root Knot Nematode Hits Peach Orchards

COLLEGE STATION
A very small worm-like parasite, commonly known as root knot nematode, is playing havoc with peach trees in some Texas orchards.

Symptoms of the parasite invasion include stunted trees and yellowing of the foliage and a close examination of the roots reveals the presence of small diameter galls, Jerral D. Johnson, Extension plant pathologist, said.

"There are two methods of controlling the nematode problem in peach trees," Johnson said. "The first is the use of resistant rootstocks, Okinawa or Nemaguard, Homeowners who are planning to plant trees this fall should contact their nurseryman to assure that the varieties they want will be available on either of these two rootstocks."

The next method of controlling nematodes is the use of soil fumigation, Johnson said. This is required on trees that are already planted and on which nematodes are later found he explained.

Brazos Sold, With Mud

The prestigious department store B. Altman's in New York has an unusual item for sale at its dignified counters -- Brazos River water, complete with mud.

According to the "Medallion", newsletter of the Texas Historical Survey Committee, it was dreamed up as a promotional gimmick for the Brazos River festival in April.

Each of the small apothecary jars of water bears a label with a sketch of the Waco Suspension Bridge and the enigmatic motto, "Once you drink water from the Brazos, you will always return."

Wacoite Mrs. Mary Alice O'Dowd drew the picture and boiled the water herself, but just to be sure that no one drinks it -- and for authenticity -- she added a heaping tablespoonful of red mud to each container.

Richardson To Play In Astrodome

Tickets to the August 6 Texas High School Coaches' Association's all-star football game are now on sale, Astrodome Ticket Manager Dick McDowell has announced.

Ronnie Richardson, 1969, VHS standout lineman, will play.

The annual all-star game, matching the outstanding graduating senior football players from throughout the state of Texas, will be played in the Astrodome Thursday night, August 6.

Tickets are priced at $4 each, McDowell said that the tickets are available at the Astrodome's standard ticket outlets -- the advance ticket windows on Kirby Drive, all Foley's stores in Houston, the lobby of Houston Bank and Trust and at the Rice and Sheraton-Lincoln Hotels.

They also may be ordered by mail from Box 1691, Houston, Texas 77001. A 25-cent handling charge should be added to all mail orders.

Game is sponsored by Houston Rotary Club. Tickets are also available through L. W. Stroup, Cameron Rotarian.

A GREAT FEELING -- to be No. 1 say Minor League White Sox players after winning the big one -- a play-off for first place with the Yankees -- Monday night at Little League

JESSE CORONA

ORLANDO, Fla.
John P. Sapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sapp, 611 W. Second St., Cameron, has been promoted to master sergeant in the U. S. Air Force.

Sergeant Sapp is an aerial gunner with the 9th Bomb Squadron at McCoy AFB, Fla. The 9th is a unit of the Strategic Air Command, America's nuclear deterrent force of long range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The sergeant, who has served 21 months in Vietnam, is a 1951 graduate of Rockdale High School. His wife is the former Barbara D. Harrison.

VIETNAM
Jesse Corona, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corona, 808 S. Burleson, Cameron, recently was promoted to Army specialist five in Vietnam, where he is serving with the 20th Engineer Brigade.

The specialist is a tractor operator with Company B of the 69th Engineer Battalion near Binh Minh.

Moto-Cross Race Sunday

Approximately 50 to 70 motorcycle races will converge on Austin, Sunday, July 26 for the second running of the Austin Aqua Festival Moto-Cross Races, the start of many "warm up" events to kick-off the 1970 Austin Aqua Festival, August 7-16.

Commencing at 1 p.m., a "shotgun" start usually sees some riders take a spill on the first sandy turn of the course, layed out in an abandoned gravel pit paralleling the Colorado River at the junction of the Montopolis Bridge and Ed Bluestine Blvd.

Heading the list of contestants is Robi Holbert of Houston who is a leading point racer who always places high in every race that he enters. Originally from Victoria, Holbert drives a CZ brand Czechoslovakian 360 cc bike.

Another point leader in the State, Wyman Friday of Fort Worth, will race in the 500 cc class on his Yamaha bike.

Local entries are led by Jack O'Leary, always a top contestant in the tough races, riding his 250 cc Yamaha. Other early Austin notables in the Moto-Cross racing category are Gary Bigley riding a 125 cc Yamaha and Kenneth Wilson, a top contender in every off-road motorcycle race as well as a top contender in statewide drag boat racing.

Races will be in five classes, 125 cc junior and senior; 250 cc junior and senior; and 500 cc seniors only. The three senior class races will pit only top ranked riders, each competing for motorcycle racing points which always determine the season champions.

Admission is $2 for adults and $.50 children 6-12 with those under 6 admitted free.
